

About Me.

My name is Leonie and my son's name was Shane Clancy. He Killed himself and another young man on Aug 16th 2009. He was on cipramil (celexa) for 17 days.

Shane never had a violent bone in his body and I know without a shadow of doubt that Cipramil caused this. The jury at Shane's inquest rejected a suicide verdict.

Professor David Healy who was the expert witness at the inquest clearly stated that this can happen to a certain percentage of people who can have a terrible reaction to anti-depressants.

After Shane's inquest Lundbeck (the makers of cipramil) stated on RTE news that their drug could not have caused this and there was no evidence to support our claim, despite the dear doctor letter they wrote above admitting suicide/homicide with the same drug!

The Irish college of psychiatry came out in the media to dismiss the experts opinion as speculative.

The Irish Medicines Board say that the patient information Leaflet give sufficient warning and we dont need a black box warning here like they have in canada and the usa.

Timothy Dinan who has been the most vocal about disputing our claims is a member of The Irish college of psychiatry, a committee member for The Irish Medicines Board and receives honoraria (payment) from Lundbeck... so what does this tell you?

Is there corruption going on?

Shane..

O. K. So where do i start?

I didn't intend this site to be about antidepressants and the failures of psychiatry or the lies of Lundbeck. I intended it to be about Shane and what he was like.. but let me get this out of the way first.

1. I have had the privilege of meeting some lovely psychiatrists.. namely Dr.Micheal Corry and Professor David Healy.
2. I also believe that these drugs can work for some people because Professor Healy said so and also because I know a really nice lady who says that if she wasn't on them she would be dead! Shane just happened to be very very unfortunate and had a very severe reaction. Unfortunately i have also spoken to a lot of other people who have had serious reactions (or their relations when the victims are no longer around).

3. I am and always will be so very sorry that other people were involved in this tragedy and will respect them and their families by not mentioning them by name.

Shane..

Shane was the nicest, kindest, funniest guy you could meet. He was loved by all his friends and family and adored by his younger siblings. He had a huge passion for the homeless and often gave his fare away and walked home (Trinity to Dalkey). We regularly had Christmas dinner late because we had to wait for Shane who was handing out dinners in Dublin. He told people he didn't want presents at his 21st ..to make use of the Saint Vincent de Paul box instead as he had everything.

He was known by his lecturers in Trinity as an craoi mhor (the big heart). So when the Gardai said there was no mistake and it was Shane involved in the events of Aug 16th I knew something was wrong somewhere.

I had thought that what happened to Shane was because he took an overdose. People have to be aware that Professor Healy said it had nothing to do with the overdose and that if you are having an adverse reaction, then one tablet can have a terrible effect!
