

All images are sourced and used under the 'fair use' doctrine. The purpose of this blog is to inspire debate, discussion and discourse. This blog aims to provide links, research and discussion on topics relating to mental health, SSRI drugs, Psychiatry, and Ethics. This blog is in no way affiliated with any public or private organization.

This blog is an information sharing portal for public awareness.

The views expressed by the authors on this website do not necessarily reflect the views of this website, those who link to this website, the author's mother, father, sisters, brothers, uncles, aunts, grandparents, cousins, step relations, any other blood relative, the author herself, or this website's web host.

Comments on this website are the sole responsibility of their writers and the writer will take full responsibility, liability, and blame for any libel or litigation that results from something written in or as a direct result of something written in a comment. The accuracy, completeness, veracity, honesty, exactitude, factuality and politeness of comments are not guaranteed.

Although it may claim otherwise, this website does not offer legal, medical, psychiatric, veterinary, gynecological, archaeological, astronomical, astrological, ontological, paleontological, philosophical, axiological, audiological, bacteriological, mineralogical, criminological, terminological, dermatological, ecclesiastical, campanological, phrenological, phonological, technological, hematological, or campanological advice.